

Exhibit A4

Number of Instances Where an Override Changes the Contact Level Within a Trip

Type of override	N
Homeless	12,066
Discretionary override	141
In-patient treatment	2,696
DOSA—No treatment	4,159
From out of state—Pending	27
DOSA—in treatment	635
Required to register	2,245
ORCS participant	29
Court-ordered mental health treatment	1,128
High-need mental health domain	769

Calculating Actual Contacts

Contacts are recorded in a separate DOC database. For each individual in the contact database, we identified all contacts recorded between July 1, 2018, and December 31, 2019. We flagged office/field contacts separately from collateral contacts. In addition, we calculated a total contact measure combining office/field and collateral contacts. We did not include contacts recorded as an attempt or Case Management Team contacts since those do not count toward an individual's minimum contact standards as per the High-Level Design.

Across our dataset, we calculated the total number of actual contacts made each day for the three separate categories of contacts (office/field, collateral, and total contacts) for the individuals in our sample. The results presented in the report represent the total number of contacts made for individuals included in the same sample used for other analyses included in the report.

Acknowledgments

---

The authors would like to thank Dr. David Luxton and staff at the DOC Research and Data Analytics for their guidance with DOC's administrative policies and data. We would also like to thank Mark Kucza (DOC) and Dr. Zach Hamilton for providing us with background information about DOC's development of and transition to the Washington ONE.

For further information, contact:

Lauren Knoth at 360.664.9805, Lauren.Knoth@wsipp.wa.gov

Document No. 20-10-1901

Washington State Institute for Public Policy

The Washington State Legislature created the Washington State Institute for Public Policy in 1983. A Board of Directors—representing the legislature, the governor, and public universities—governs WSIPP and guides the development of all activities. WSIPP's mission is to carry out practical research, at legislative direction, on issues of importance to Washington State.